Quick & Easy Journal Weekly

By Krystal Candler

Hello everyone! It's Krystal here from @lovelettersatdawn. This week, I wanted to share a fun way to design a weekly layout for your bullet journal. All you need is your bullet journal and a few awesome Zebra Pens.

Materials you need:

- * Zebra Sarasa Clip Gel Pens
- * Zebra Mildliner Highlighters
- * Your favorite bullet journal

The first step is deciding what fun colors you'll want to use. Zebra Pen offers a wide range of colors in the Sarasa Clip as well as the Mildliner. I recommend using colors that coordinate, the Zebra Journaling set (item #10014) is a quick and easy pack to pick up to get you started!

Making a swatch page helps me see the colors and how they look against one another, I've included that here! Once you've decided what colors you'd like to use it's time to create!

Step 1

Start in the top left corner of your journal, I love to label my month and create a mini calendar right under so I can keep track of the days. Also right below the month I add a small little reminder box and use the Mildliners to highlight the important dates! Just to keep me organized.

Step 2

Next let's do the days of the week! The most awesome part of bullet journaling is being able to create something unique to your style and your life. Personally, I love to start my week on Monday, some do Sunday that's all up to you. Next to where you made your mini calendar, off to the right use your Mildliner to make a mark across the page using the chisel tip. Label your day of the week. You can decide how much space you need by how much to do each day. Typically, I make a mark ten bullets across. (I write pretty big so I like a lot of space.)

Step 3

On your next page, using your Mildliners make additional marks for Thursday through Sunday. I then use the Sarasa Clip to label the days and add the numbers for the dates.

There will be some extra space along the bottom of your pages to create personalized lists. Maybe a menu for that week? Maybe an extra to do list? It's all up to you! Again that's the fun part about bullet journaling, I like to add little doodles along my pages I used the Mildliners first then added the details with the Sarasa pens, so much fun!!

I hope you enjoyed my tutorial of a quick and easy way to make a weekly layout for your bullet journal. Stay tuned for my next step-by-step blog!
